School Board hears Miller on federal funding cuts proposals

BY DENA BISNETTE

Members of the Gulf Coast Association of School Boards were addressed Monday by a liaison from Representative Trent Lott's office on proposed cuts in federal funding for education.

Mercer Miller told superintendents and school board members representing seven school boards that cuts could total as high as $29 billion.

The boards included Hancock County, Bay St. Louis, Pass Christege level programs and aid to college students, but some programs funded under the Title IV Civil Rights Act would also be modified.

Miller said districts have already lost some of the benefit of federal funding, since federal money paid for 10.8 percent of educational costs in 1970 and now pays only 8.3 percent.

He said he expects some sort of compromise proposal to be worked out by Congress, since the budget cut proposal also includes some positive aspects. These include a tax-free educational savings account program allowing parents to deposit up to $1,000 per year for college for their children. Also included is an adult literacy program.

In addition to hearing from Miller, the association elected new officers. They include Cyril Glover of the Bay St. Louis School Board, president; Annette Luther of Biloxi, vice president; and Bay St. Louis Superintendent J.D. McCullough, secretary-treasurer.

The Hancock County School District hosted the meeting.

SAND BEACH PUBLIC RELATIONS SUBCOMMITTEE MEETING—Members of the Hancock County Sand Beach Public Relations Subcommittee met Thursday at the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's office. Discussions were held by the group on how to acquire public input for the Hancock-Harrison Technical Advisory Council's (TAC) sand beach master plan. Among those at the meeting were from right, Louis Smolensky, TAC member; Dorothy Sifton, Gwen Hogan, Nancy Gex, TAC member; Jeff Taylor, Gulf

Regional Planning Commission representative; Mary Perkins, public relations committee chairman; Millie Brockman, and Ray Kidd, Hancock TAC vice-chairman. At meeting Perkins and Charlie Gustin were elected to serve as official spokesmen to report to TAC and the Executive Council. County lounges raided

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Law enforcement officials raided four Hancock County lounges and seized several bottles of illegal whiskey Friday night.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson said the raid was conducted following an Alcoholic Beverage Control undercover operation conducted by a member of the Harrison County Sheriff's Department.

Lounges raided include The Crack and the Big S. Lounge, both located on Sycamore Street in Bay St. Louis; the Rhythm Club and Scorpio's Lounge, both located in Waveland.

Arrested in connection with the raids were lounge proprietors Anthony James Gilbert, 60, 401 Sycamore St., Bay St. Louis; James Smith, 59, 215 Olavri, Waveland; Mary L. Terry, 43, 504 Amar St., Waveland; and Charles Edwards Hawkins, 40, 817 Tipples St., Waveland.

Gilbert, Smith and Terry were each charged with possession of liquor for resale and released on a $500 bond.

Hawkins was charged with two counts of possession of liquor for resale because bottles of contraband (moonshine) liquor was also found at the Scorpio Lounge, Peterson said.

He was also charged with possession of gambling devices. Hawkins was released on a property bond.

Law enforcement agencies assisting with the raids include the Hancock County Sheriff's Department, Bay St. Louis Police, Waveland Police, ABC and Harrison County Sheriff's Department.

Coast wildlife rescue group sponsoring course on bird, animal rehabilitation

By EDGAR H. PEREZ

Wildlife Rehabilitation and Nature Preservation Society on the Mississippi Gulf Coast has scheduled a wildlife rehabilitation course Friday and Saturday, May 3 and 4.

The Friday session will begin at 7 p.m. and instruction Saturday will be offered from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. with a break for lunch.

The course will be conducted in Room 204, L.Loyd Hall, University of Southern Mississippi campus in Long Beach.

Tuition fee for society members is $10; for non-members, $15.

Membership in the society with dues donation ranging from $5 for students will be accepted during course registration.

Membership tuition discount will apply for those joining the society at that time, according to Dianne Hunt of Pass Christian, society spokesman.

Hunt said the course is designed to instruct volunteers in the proper care of orphaned and injured wildlife, both birds and mammals.

First aid techniques, long-term care, nutrition, handling techniques, and requirements for releasing back to the wild will be among topics covered in the two-day course.

Friday's meeting will be devoted to animals and Saturday's workshops will consider birds, including baby birds and care of birds of prey such as owls and hawks.

Anne Orlovski Tappen of Baton Rouge, La., holder of a bachelor of science degree in wildlife biology and former assistant curator of birds at Audubon Park Zoo in New Orleans, La. will serve as instructor of the Saturday classes.

Tappen is the founder of a Wild Bird Rehabilitation Center at Audubon Zoo.

Penney Hayden, RN, of Gautier, an experienced rehabilitator of wild animals and birds, will instruct the Friday night class.

Completion of the course will prove beneficial to applicants for U.S. Fish and Wildlife permits to handle birds and wildlife on a regular basis under the Migratory Bird Treaty Act.

Hunt, a biologist with Bureau of Marine Resources in Long Beach, said federal law is designed to insure only trained individuals become involved in attempts to rescue, rehabilitate and release injured and orphaned wildlife.

"There are laws to protect wildlife and the people who become involved with them," Hunt said.

For information on the society and the rehabilitation course, call Marty Chambers in Waveland, 467-5825, or Hunt at 452-2034.

OWL RESCUE—Dianne Hunt holds great horned owl saved from starvation after becoming entangled in kite string near a US-90 home in Pass Christian. The bird was later released in south-central Mississippi woodlands.

NSTL test results may permit heavier payloads in space

A first in the history of Space Shuttle Main Engine testing is scheduled to occur at NASA's National Space Technology Laboratories in early May.

According to Boyce Mix, Shuttle Project Office resident manager, checkout is under way in preparation for a three-engine "cluster" test to certify the Space Shuttle's main propulsion system at 100 percent full power level.

All three engines—2011, 2017 and 2019—have been installed on the Main Propulsion Test Article in preparation for the test which will be a first for the space Transportation System since it will certify the propulsion system at the 100 percent full power thrust.

According to Mix, each engine at 100 percent will be capable of producing 417,300 pounds of thrust at sea level. This marks a 24,300 pound per engine increase over the present 393,000 pounds created by each engine at the 104 percent thrust level.

The increased engine power level will enable the orbiter to carry heavier payloads in its cargo bay.

The main propulsion system of the shuttle consists of three main engines, an external fuel tank and associated hardware in the orbiter's aft section.

O'Neill Acker, police spokesman said, was in good condition and was being treated in a hospital in Gulfport.

Crafty Homemakers

The monthly meeting of the Crafty Homemakers Extension Club was held at the home of Mrs. Beatrice Ladner. The Pledge of Allegiance was followed by the devotional given by Mrs. Ladner on the reading of Job 37:1-14, on the wondrous works of God.

The group welcomed Mrs. Winona Wyman, Mrs. Crystal Schaefer and Mrs. Allie Cospelich, who had been ill. There were 11 members present.

At the recent International Taster's Tea, Italy was voted the most popular country. Discussion was held and ideas were presented for next year's tea. The Focus was given by Mrs. Minnie Geiger on "Give Yourself a Fiscal Checkup," which consisted of the budgeting and spending of money. Instead of the usual reading of a city in Mississippi, Mrs. Ladner introduced a game consisting of matching words with the names of cities. WELL-SEED

Gieves and Hawkes of Savile Row, London, who have spent the past two centuries supplying uniforms to officers of the British Armed Services, are celebrating their 200th anniversary by publishing a history of the company by one of the current members of the family, David Gieves.

The company is justifiably proud of its reputation for getting uniform details right.

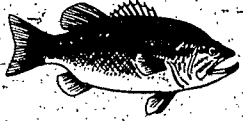

Lord Nelson and Captain Bligh are early customers and the company was able to draw on its records to make sure Charles Laughton's uniform, which they made for the film "Mutiny on the Bounty," was absolutely correct.

Gieves and Hawkes, which once designed an employee to supply a central stud to a midshipman serving in the fleet off Constantinople, seems only to have lost one order.

A sales manager, commissioned to design uniforms for the Peruvian junta, helplessly watched the order slip away as the president was assassinated in a coup minutes before the new uniforms were to be handed over.

Tom Williams seeking Bay city council seat

Tom Williams has qualified as a Democratic candidate for Ward 4 councilman in Bay St. Louis.

A resident of 117 St. Charles St., Williams is a graduate of Warren Easton High School in New Orleans.

He attended Delgado College and the University of New Orleans, majoring in business administration and law.

Currently employed by the Equipment Services Division of Mason Chamberlain Inc. at the National Space Technologies Laboratories, Williams previously ran a family-owned business in New Orleans.

In addition, he has experience as a general contractor and a legal researcher.

Williams is a member of Sideline Club, the Krewe of NSTL, and the Gulf Coast Sportsmen's Club.

This year he was elected president of the NSTL Recreation Association's softball league.

Williams said he feels strongly about the need to set specific goals and make specific plans to alleviate the many city-wide problems, such as poor drainage, deteriorating street surfaces, and high utility bills.

Williams said his experience in private industry has made him realize how important accountability is and he will insist on achieving results in all city endeavors.

Corrections

In a story on page one of Thursday's Sea Coast Echo, an incorrect amount was listed for architectural fees on a six-classroom addition to Gulfview Elementary School.

The correct fee is $23,000, or seven percent of the $330,000 estimated to be the total cost of the project.

Also incorrect was the six percent fee listed, which is actually $19,800. The Echo apologizes for the error.

St. Stanislaus High School Baseball pitcher David Pitolo was inadvertently identified in Thursday's edition of The Sea Coast Echo as his brother, Donald Pitolo who plays left field on the team.

The Sea Coast Echo apologizes for the error.

Community association to honor Diamondhead board Thursday

BY DENA BISNETTE
At a special meeting Thursday, the Diamondhead Community Association will honor the officers and directors of the Diamondhead Property Owners Association for their handling of an ownership change involving the community's common areas.

The community association (DCA), according to its vice-president, Betty Claggett, represents about 200 of the community's registered voters. The Property Owners Association (DPOA), represents the people who own about 6,000 residential lots in Diamondhead.

The officers and directors of the DPOA are currently in charge of setting policy for the operation and maintenance of Diamondhead's roads, recreational facilities and other areas under the common ownership of the DPOA members.

The DPOA members obtained ownership in January from the Purcell Company, a development firm, in accordance with an agreement made when development began in 1970.

DPOA officers to be honored include Glenn Smith, president; George Underwood, vice president; Sylvia Pross, secretary; and Frank Cerniglia, treasurer.

Directors include Albert Doussan Jr., Thomas J. Heier Jr., Thomas J. Hickman, William H. Marshall, Betty Nolan, Thomas Rawls and Sidney Watson.

Also to be honored is Robert H. Barnes, Diamondhead Project Manager, who is employed by the DPOA to carry out the decision made by the board of directors.

"We're honoring these people because the ownership change was an extraordinarily smooth takeover with no acrimony," Claggett said.

"They have spent many, many hours on this project and have evaluated every amenity individually. Every fiscal aspect was handled extremely well."

Claggett said Thursday's meeting is open to DCA members only and will begin with a cocktail hour in the Aloha Room of the Diamondhead Country Club at 5 p.m., followed by dinner at 6 p.m. and a business meeting at 7 p.m.

The Thursday meeting will replace the usual Friday DCA meeting.

Pirates Treasure sale event slated Saturday at Buccaneer

BY EDGAR PEREZ
Buccaneer State Park in Waveland is sponsoring a 'Pirates' Treasure Flea Market and Garage Sale, featuring more than 30 sellers from 9 a.m. until dark, Saturday at Pavilion No. 3.

Park manager Greg Smith said additional space for sellers is still available by calling the park office, 467-3822.

Smith added he expects brisk sales since a Mason-Chamberlain Corporation employee picnic at the park that day is expected to attract some 600 'potential buyers.'

Since pavilion space is heavily booked through the summer and an alternate date is unavailable, Saturday's event will be staged rain or shine, Smith added.

The flea market-garage sale will be the first of its kind at the park, Smith noted, with no restrictions placed on the sellers as far as what may be offered for sale.

Sellers will be offering a wide variety including baked goods and handmade items.

The Bay-Waveland Humane Society will operate two booths featuring high quality flea market items, bake sale, Cabbage Patch Kid give-away and membership/pet information.

Flea market and bake sale donations will be accepted by the society. For pickup or information call 467-0556 or 255-9481.

America at Work

That's the theme for this year's National Small Business Week, and the theme tells an exciting and accurate story. Small businesses, 14 million strong by U.S. Small Business Administration standards, employ about half the nation's private work force. Small businesses are the chief employers of the young, the old and of women. Small firms have been adding to employment rolls at an unusually fast clip. Last year, industries which are dominated by small businesses added jobs at a rate of about twice that of industries dominated by corporate giants: 11.4 percent vs. 5.3 percent. Moreover, small firms are creating more than their share of new jobs through innovation and entrepreneurship. An SBA study shows that small firms move relatively quickly out of slow-growing industries and move quickly into new and emerging industries, a record which helps America's international competitiveness and national productivity. National Small Business Week is noted annually to pay special tribute to the nation's small business community and especially to those small firms which have been unusually successful and have made outstanding contributions to their community. This year, the week is to be celebrated May 5-11. What better time to salute our small entrepreneurs and take special pride in this year's theme: Small Business: America at Work. Mississippi's Small Business Person of the Year was honored at the Governor's Mansion on April 22, along with other state winners for Small Business Advocacy.

Quotables by CUEVAS

Bay St. Louis residents are urged to attend the Political Forum sponsored by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce for mayoral candidates on Wednesday at 7 p.m.

The forum will be held at the Veterans of Foreign Wars home, Third Street.

Those who may not know where the home is located can reach it by turning off Beach Boulevard at Washington Street, go to the second stop sign, turn left, and the VFW's home is on the right.

We are hoping there will be a large voter turnout for the forum.

The primary election will be held on Tuesday, May 14, and that is not very far away.

There are many ways a person can help improve the appearance of their communities. A fine example is the 'Operation Bright Spot' which involves planting petunias or other flowers around rural mail boxes.

Wouldn't it be nice to see beautiful flowers growing about every mail box post in our area?

We have been involved in a lot of conversations in recent weeks about litter.

On a recent trip to Alabama and Florida with the Hancock-Harrison County Sand Beach Technical Advisory Council, we inquired how others handled litter problems.

One item of emphasis we received from every official we spoke to, was the attitude of the local residents.

As you know the coastal areas of Alabama and Florida depend very heavily on tourism.

Over the years we keep hearing in Hancock County about the litter coming from the tourist, primarily those from New Orleans.

It is very possible if the local residents had a better attitude, our visitors would follow suit. This is something to think about.

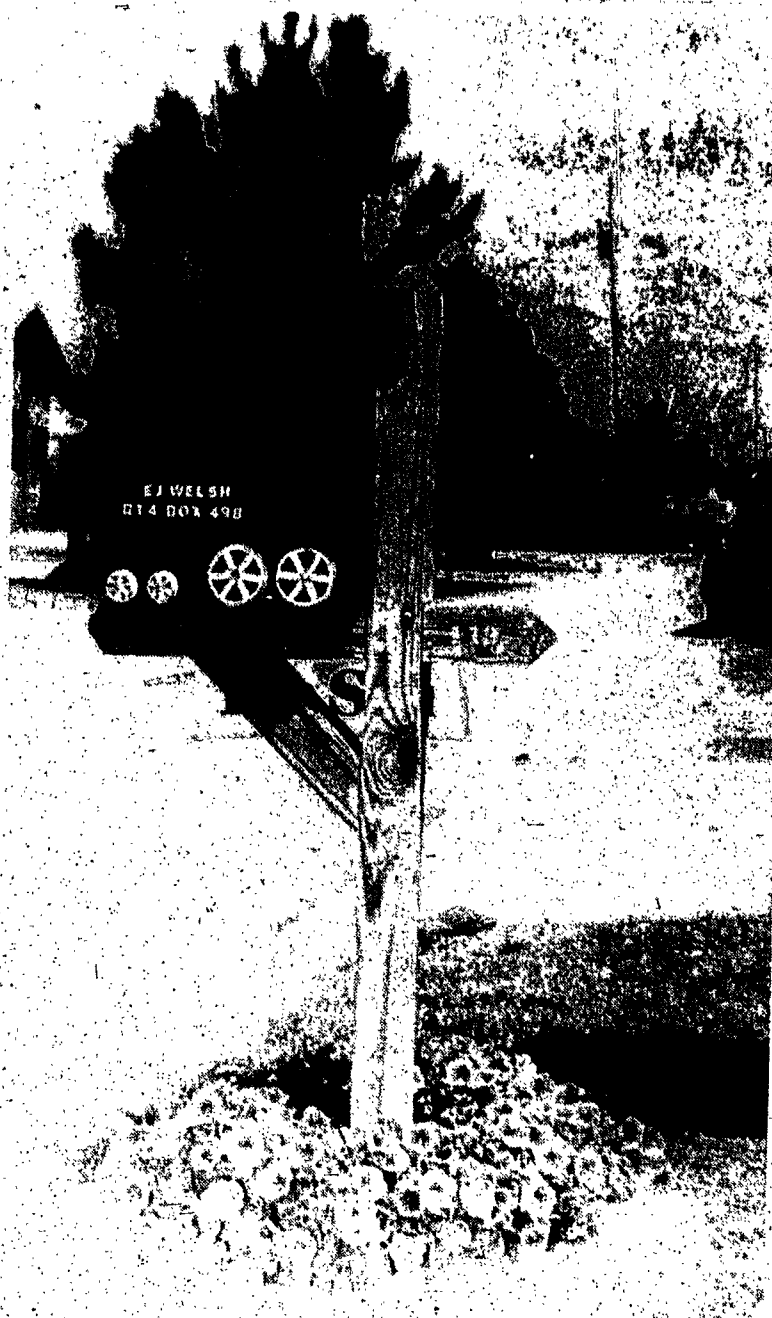

In case you have forgotten, you should have set your clock ahead one hour last night.

We know we goofed one time on the advising which way to change the clock for a time change.

We still remember the 'Spring forward', and 'Fall backward' theory.

We guess they make the time changes on Sunday morning so too many folks won't be too early or late for work.

Operation Mailbox Bright Spot contest underway

Operation Mailbox Bright Spot is a beautification project in the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce War on Ugliness Campaign.

The mailbox beautification project is sponsored by the local Extension Council Committee on Housing, Energy and Environment. Margie Welsh is chairman.

"Make a bright spot out of your mailbox, by having it in good repair and making it neat and attractive," Mrs. Welsh said.

"Try matching the mailbox color to the trim on your house, and planting flowers such as petunias, periwinkles or zinnias around the mailbox will give it a cheerful look," she said.

Operation Mailbox Bright Spot will be a contest open to residents in Bay St. Louis, rural Bay St. Louis and Waveland. Entries will be judged for being a "Bright Spot" in it's area.

To enter the contest send the owner's name, address, and telephone to Operation Mailbox Bright Spot, Hancock County Extension Service, 725-A Dunbar Avenue, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520.

PEACE INITIATIVE

In the coming weeks, the Congress will be taking up President Reagan's new initiative to restore democracy in Nicaragua.

The President's plan is threefold:

1. He is calling upon both the Sandinista government and the contra opposition to lay down their arms and accept the offer of church-mediated talks on internationally supervised elections and an end to the repression now in place against the church, the press and individual rights;

2. He has asked the members of the Democratic Resistance to extend their offer of a cease-fire until June 1; and

3. He is requesting that the Congress immediately release $14 million which already has been appropriated for the contras. He has pledged that while the cease-fire offer is on the table, these funds will not be used for arms or munitions.

The funds instead will be used for food, clothing, medicine and other humanitarian purposes. However, if there is no peace agreement by June 1, he would be free to use the money for arms unless both sides asked him not to.

In any agreement, the Sandinistas would have to stop being a threat to their neighbors, remove all foreign forces—including the Soviet-bloc, Cuban, Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) and Libyan military and security personnel—and return to the "democratic goals" that they originally pledged to the Organization of American States.

The President is sincere in his search for a peaceful solution in Nicaragua, and I believe that this latest initiative is a fair and a constructive approach to moving away from a confrontational situation.

I share frustration and difficulty in understanding why many people in Washington have such a lackadaisical attitude about what happens to the people of Nicaragua and Central America.

When you're on the Gulf of Mexico as we in Mississippi are and have regular contact with the people of Central America through shipping and tourism, you are very concerned with what happens to them.

For this country to just walk away and hope that maybe the situation will improve is just irresponsible. Perhaps some of the approaches we have taken to Central America in the past have not always been the right ones, but we must be involved.

We cannot let what is existing in Nicaragua now—a Marxist government that is exporting revolution—continue. We must be for democracy. We have to try to help the people there defend themselves.

The President's Nicaragua initiative offers the incentive for peace and at the same time promises support for the so-called "freedom fighters."

We should give it a chance.

Red Cross volunteers recommended for efficiency in conducting blood drives

April 25, 1985
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis, MS 39520

I am writing to publicly pay tribute to the American Red Cross and the volunteer workers who conduct our local blood drives.

In early 1984, I went to the American Legion to donate blood. While being processed I was told that I could not donate because of a sore on my arm, and I was dismissed to go home.

Approximately one month later I was admitted to the hospital and told that I had acute leukemia. One of the few visible symptoms I had were sores like the one on my arm. I can not begin to express how thankful I have been this past year that the Red Cross did not take my blood. Those who donate do so in hopes of helping, not hurting, their fellow man.

I commend those who conduct these drives so efficiently and encourage them to keep up the good work. I am most grateful that I was not allowed to pass on a life-threatening illness to a fellow human being who needed my help.

Sincerely,
James A. Evans Jr.

Higher architect fee costs additional $3,300

April 25, 1985
Editor
The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis, MS.

Dear Sir:

I would like to thank Michael Reeves for his letter criticizing the Hancock County School Board's selection of an architect for proposed work at Gulfview School.

I agree with Mr. Reeves wholeheartedly! When you consider the school board's past record then it does, indeed, make one wonder why an architect wanting a higher fee was chosen.

Several other well-qualified architects offered to fulfill the contract at a lesser fee. In spite of this fact school board president Billy Faye Lyons insists that Mr. Wagner "knows" Hancock County schools and is the better choice.

I feel Mrs. Lyons and three other school board members have not calculated the added expense about to be imposed on the taxpayers of this county. For example, the estimated cost for this one project at Gulfview is $330,000. The difference in paying seven percent as opposed to six percent is $3,300.

Only one school board member voted against hiring Mr. Wagner because of the seven percent fee. She is to be commended for her opposition vote. The readers should notice that this is not the first time Lennette Nicaise has been the only "nay" vote in these questionable matters involving the taxpayers' money.

The front page of the Thursday's Echo quotes Frank Lovell of the State Education Finance Commission as having said, "but if the board wants to do it and the taxpayers are satisfied to have their money thrown away we'll help to fund it." This taxpayer does not want her money thrown away!

If $3,300 doesn't seem an important amount, then consider doubling or tripling that amount. Every time the school board makes a decision like this one in which more of the taxpayers' money is spent than necessary, the figures rise.

For a project costing $1,000,000, the difference in seven percent and six percent is $10,000—a staggering amount to be "thrown away!"

All of the members of the school board should think seriously about these decisions. Their priority should be to save the taxpayers' money, not spend it freely.

According to the Mississippi School Laws, section 37-47-29, "The contract shall be let and awarded to the lowest and best bidder but the board of trustees or other governing body of the school district shall have the power to reject any and all bids." Notice that the law reads, "lowest and best," not "lowest or best."

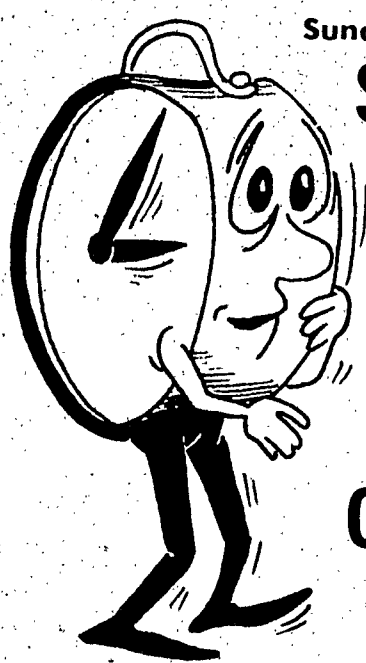

Given this law, I question the legality of accepting the highest bid when there were six other proposals of six percent. (or lower?)

Following a three-year term as provincial of the New Orleans Province of the Brothers of the Sacred Heart, Brother Xavier Werneth, SC, was recently elected to a second term in office.

Chosen on his council to advise him in managing the affairs of the province are Brother Ivy LeBlanc, first councillor; Brother Lee Barker, second councillor; Brother Mark Thornton, third, councillor; and Brother Bernard Couvillion, fourth councillor.

The latter is the only newcomer to the council, replacing brother Felician Fourrier.

The provincial and his council are elected by the professed members of the province. Their choices are approved by the General Administration in Rome.

Prior to his selection as provincial in 1982, Brother Xavier was a member of the Provincial Council since 1979 and principal at E.D. White High School in Thibodaux, La., since 1976.

A native of Mobile, Ala., Brother is the son of Mrs. Francis Xavier

For six years he served as provincial (1976-1982). Brother was principal at St. Aloysius High School in New Orleans and at St. Stanislaus in Bay St. Louis. Earlier he directed young men training to become brothers at the juniorate in Daphne, Ala.

A native of Thibodaux, he currently shares duties as vocation director with Brother Paul Mulligan.

During his first term, Brother Xavier brought his organizational skills to bear in all departments at the Provinciate, especially the archives to which he gave a high priority. Moreover, he began computerizing many records.

Since 1982, Brother Ivy has been a member of the Provincial Council. Presently, principal at Brother Martin High School in New Orleans, he is a native of Baton Rouge. He has served as religious superior, as chairman of the committee which translated the Brothers' Rule from French to English, and as chairman of the English department at Brother Martin High School.

Brother Felician, who is being replaced by Brother Bernard, was first appointed to the Council in 1952.

A year later he resigned in order to serve as a missionary in Uganda.

In 1958 he was reappointed to the council until 1964; and again in 1967, until this year. He served under six provincials.

Recuperating from recent open heart surgery, Brother Felician remains active with the Louisiana Catholic Conference and the Louisiana State Board of Elementary and Secondary Education. He is stationed in Baton Rouge.

August 15 is the date on which the provincial and his council are to begin their new term.

SPIRITUAL INTEGRITY

There has never been a time when integrity was not a needed ingredient in the lives of humanity.

Integrity is an "unimpaired state; soundness; purity; moral soundness; honesty; uprightness." (Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary)

Although the word "integrity" is not found in the New Testament, it is found 16 times in the Old Testament.

The idea is found in a number of words and phrases in both Testaments. Some of these phrases are "speak ye truth each one with his neighbor." (Ephesians 4:25); "honest and good heart." (Luke 8:14); "not with eye service as men please." (Ephesians 6:6; Col. 3:22); "buy the truth and sell it not." (Proverbs 23:23).

The negatives of integrity are found in words like stealing, lying, bribery, adultery, fornication, etc.

Integrity involves telling the truth. God has always demanded that men speak the truth.

One of the things that God hates is mentioned in Proverbs 6:17 is a "lying tongue."

Solomon also said, "A righteous man hateth lying, but a wicked man is loathsome and cometh to shame." (Proverbs 13:5)

Lying for economic and social excuses is an everyday part of our people. Abraham Lincoln commenting about someone, said: "He reminds me of an old fisherman I used to know who got such a reputation for stretching the truth that he bought a pair of scales and insisted on weighing every fish in the presence of witnesses."

One day a baby was born next door and the doctor borrowed the old fisherman's scales. The baby weighed 47 pounds."

Many today teach their children to lie. For example, if an unwanted visitor knocks on the door, parents have been known to command the child to tell the would-be guest the parents are not at home.

Such reveals the immaturity of those fearing to face unwanted truth or circumstances.

John wrote, "...all liars, their part shall be in the lake that burneth with fire and brimstone; which is the second death." (Revelations 21:8)

The white, black and all other colors of liars shall be there.

The work ethic very much relates to integrity. A little boy, when asked to define work said, "Work is something other people think of for you to do; play is something you think of yourself."

At first this definition might bring a smile, but deeper contemplation will reflect profound implications.

Mark Twain once remarked: "I never worked a day in my life," and by this he meant that he found pleasure in what he had always done. He never considered piloting a steamer on the Mississippi, writing his novels or lecturing audiences work.

Those who only work when the boss is looking "eye-service" need to command of Paul. He said, "If any will not work, neither let him eat." (II Thessalonians 3:10) We need the vitamin "W" (work).

Respecting the property rights of others is an aspect of integrity. Paul commanded, "Let him that stole steal no more; but rather let him labor, working with his hands the thing that is good, that he may have whereof to give to him that hath need." (Ephesians 4:28)

Crime is a losing game. No one can win. It is always a liability and never an asset. Men have told me such things as these: "I have stolen thousands, but I came to prison without a nickel." "I robbed, thinking it would mean finding freedom, but instead of that I find I have lost my freedom." "My crime has hurt me deeply, but I have not learned anything." (Sing Sing Prison Chaplain)

Almost daily we hear of some school that has been vandalized, a store or bank has been robbed, if a riot or a natural disaster occurs, stores are looted by hordes of lawless mobs.

Sexual purity is necessary to maintain integrity. Fornication and adultery is portrayed on television as the normal occurrence in society. I am certain that is not true in the community in which we live. If this kind of bombardment of evil continues many will be convinced. There is far too much already. Three out of five marriages end in divorce. Far too many marriages take place where neither the boy or the girl are virgins.

Those who engage in fornication and adultery cannot go to heaven unless they repent and obey god. (I Corinthians 6:9-10; Gal. 5:19-20)

The story is told of a daughter who asked her father for permission to visit a worldly girl, and the father refused. The daughter said, "You must think me exceedingly weak." The father picked up a coal from the fire and handed it to the daughter, but she hesitated to take it. When the father said, "It won't hurt you," she took it, but her hands were blackened.

She said, "Father, you can't be too careful in handling coals." "That is right," said the father, "for even if they do not burn, they blacken."

So it is with evil companions. "Be not deceived; evil companions corrupt good morals." (I Corinthians 15:33)

Spiritual integrity also involves obedience to the gospel. Integrity pertains to many things we cannot mention in this short article. Embracing the gospel of Christ is a commitment to give complete allegiance to every principle, command and inference involved in a command found in the inspired volume.

One cannot have complete integrity until he surrenders his will to God in obedience to the gospel of Christ.

Jesus said, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that disbelieveth shall be condemned." (Mark 16:16)

The Lord adds the saved to his church. (Acts 2:47)

Let us all work to have complete integrity in the sight of God.

Oschner dietitian says "eat for the job"

Many people eat on the job, but very few of them eat for the job. Eating right for the task at hand makes the day go better.

"But it's important to keep the amount of food eaten at the level on which you can maintain a desirable weight and still keep your mood and performance up," says Mrs. Martha Jones, Oschner Clinic director of clinical dietetics.

Take that most maligned meal of all—breakfast. Everybody knows you're supposed to start the day with a "good" breakfast. But are fried eggs and bacon, buttered toast and coffee, a good breakfast? Not by a long shot, says Mrs. Jones. "The high fat content offers no advantage in starting the day."

A good breakfast should average from 300 to 400 calories. Try a whole grapefruit, an English muffin with a dab of butter, and a medium egg.

Or an orange, six ounces of low fat milk over a cup of puffed rice and one slice of whole wheat toast with a tablespoon of peanut butter on it. As a matter of fact, that late morning slump you've been experiencing may be due to that coffee and pastry you had for breakfast, she said.

When it comes to the coffee bread—it's the break that's important, not the coffee or snack.

Mrs. Jones even suggests that "there is no rule that says you have to eat just because it's break time. If you need more stimulation, try some stretching or jumping in place instead of something to eat or drink."

But if you have to eat or drink, remember: caffeine-free coffee or tea, herb teas and fruit juices are better than regular coffee or soft drinks; use cinnamon in your coffee instead of sugar and skimmed milk instead of cream or coffee lighteners; eat low fat muffins or raisin bread instead of pastries; and fresh or dried fruit instead of a candy bar.

One more healthful tip. Water is good for you and nobody pays much attention to it. To break into the water-drinking habit, try substituting a glass of water for one of your usual cups of another drink. Aim for three glasses of water during the workday. If you can manage to be sensible about food at work, who knows—it might carry over at home, too. Then everybody wins.

ASCS Report

Removing a certain percentage of cropland from production to conservation practices is a specific requirement of the 1985 acreage reduction and land diversion programs.

By diverting crop acres, the programs are expected to control excess wheat, feed grain, cotton and rice supplies and maintain a better balance between supply and demand.

Rules and regulations were established by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service for determining the eligibility of cropland taken out of production to meet the acreage reduction requirements.

"When designating land for the acreage conservation reserve, farmers should keep in mind that these acres must meet the eligibility requirements," Pearl River-Hancock County ASCS official Franklin A. Gennin said.

ACR land must have been devoted to row crops or small grains in two of the past three years. For summer fallow acreage, the cropping requirement is one of the last two years.

Gennin said farmers need to be sure that their ACR land has actually been planted within the specified time frame. The land can also be acres designated as ACR under the previous year's acreage reduction program.

After meeting their acreage reduction requirements, program participants are required to establish and maintain approved conservation practices on their ACR to protect the land from wind and water erosion.

"These acres also may be devoted to a permanent vegetative cover such as trees, sod waterways, filter strips and windbreaks," Gennin said. Additional cover or plantings, such as those benefiting wildlife, may be developed as long as the practice meets approved erosion control standards, he said.

Under the 1985 farm program contract, approved cover crops or conservation practices must be established on ACR land as soon as possible after the normal planting period for spring crops. The ASCS official said program participants who do not meet their ACR obligations will be out of compliance and could lose program benefits.

FARMERS CERTIFY CROPS

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service recently closed the sign-up period for the 1985 wheat, feed grain, cotton and rice acreage reduction programs. Farmers who enrolled should now prepare to certify or report their program acres to the agency. Pearl River-Hancock County farmers have until May 1 to report the acres and intended use of their wheat, oats, barley, rye and other fall-seeded crops to our office, "Franklin A. Gennin, county executive director of the Pearl River-Hancock County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Office said.

Small grain crops that are not reported by this deadline will be ineligible for program benefits.

To be eligible for price support loans, deficiency payments and other acreage reduction and land diversion program benefits, Gennin said all program participants must correctly certify their entire farm after planting. ASCS verifies that crop reports are accurate by randomly checking farms and also by providing aerial photographs for farmers to identify their fields.

For a nominal fee, farmers can request that ASCS measure their program acres prior to reporting the acreage, and avoid unnecessary worry over the loss of program benefits.

"The service includes measurement of planted crops, acreage conservation reserve (ACR) land, fields of subdivisions, total cropland and land areas for other purposes."

The measurements are guaranteed for the crop year.

The ASCS official said measurement service is valuable not only to producers participating in the acreage reduction programs, but to any farmer who desires an accurate acreage for any reason.

Pearl River and Hancock County farmers who have not certified their fall-seeded crops are urged to do so by May 1.

KILN STORY HOUR—Veronica Breau, Kiln Library manager, helps pre-schoolers, from left, Amy Taylor, Bridgette Malley, Brittany Lee and Steven Taylor to choose books to borrow after story hour at the Kiln Library. Breau presents a pre-school story session every other Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. at the library on Hwy. 603. Children from three to six years of age are invited to attend. KC Tootsie Roll drive slated April 29-May 5

Money collected by Mississippi Knights of Columbus last year in their annual Tootsie Roll Drive was distributed to more than 75,000 mentally retarded in the state.

Hancock Industries in Bay St. Louis received more than $1,800 from last year's contributions, and was matched four-to-one by the federal government.

This year, the drive is scheduled for the week of April 29 through May 5.

Teddy Morel, drive chairman for Pere Le Duc Council in Bay St. Louis noted charitable donations are sometimes questioned because their administrative cost override the good intended.

"Also doubts frequently arise about whether the funds ever get to the people in need," he said, adding,

"When you contribute to the Tootsie Roll Drive, 75 percent of the funds go directly to the agencies in your own community."

Elementary students to view alcohol, drug effects on rats

Students at a Slidell Elementary School will have the chance to witness for themselves the telling effects of alcohol and other drugs—using laboratory rats as the subject.

The Committee on Alcoholism and Drug Abuse for Greater New Orleans, a United Way Agency, is sponsoring the drug abuse demonstration on Wednesday at the Pope John Paul School in Slidell.

Students will observe the rats' normal behavior patterns, then witness firsthand how increasing consumption of alcohol or other drugs affects that behavior, according to CADA executive director Ashton Brisolara of Waveland.

The demonstration using rats is a "new approach to an old and prevalent problem" of substance abuse touching both young and old members of the community, he stated.

CADA, now celebrating its 25th year of providing free counseling and services, has always conducted substance abuse education programs in local schools, but this new approach, according to Brisolara, should "make the point more clearly than all the lectures and slide shows in the world."

Besides its ongoing education and awareness programs, CADA continues to maintain the now-famous "524-H-E-L-P" telephone number available 24 hours daily to persons needing substance abuse advice, counseling or referrals.

Story Hour titles listed

Pre-school children from the ages of three to six are invited to attend Story Hour every Thursday at 10:30 a.m. at the Bay St. Louis Library on US-90.

Story programs are also conducted on Tuesdays at the Kiln Library and Fridays at the Waveland Library.

This Thursday's program begins with "Kitty's New Doll" by Dorothy M. Kunhardt.

"There Was Nobody There" by Barbara Botner is the second book. "Reach for The Ceiling," a physical activity, will be performed between stories.

"A Rhinoceros Wakes Me Up In The Morning" by Peter Goodspeed will also be read.

"Freddy Frog," a flannel board story, is to be presented next.

The program will conclude with the Blue Ribbon film, "Wizard of Speed And Time."

JOHN WILKERSON

This is the kind of drive I plan to bring to the office of councilman.

Mississippi broadcasters cite public radio news

Public radio in Mississippi (PRM) has been cited for excellence in feature production by the Mississippi Associated Press Broadcasters Association (MAPBA).

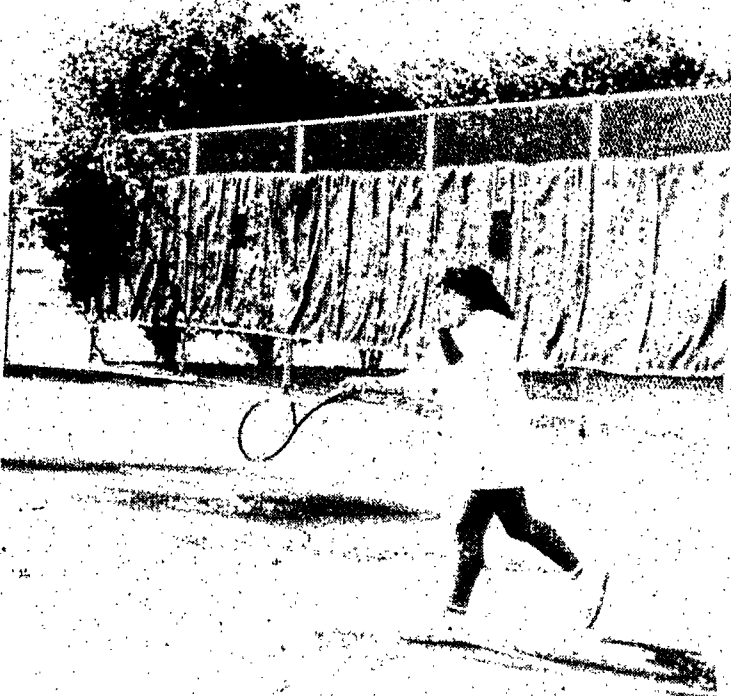

At its 1985 meeting MAPBA presented PRM public affairs producer Dave Miller with the first-place award in the statewide competition.

Miller's feature on the cooperation of a Hattiesburg television station in faking the death of a local citizen aired on National Public Radio's "All Things Considered" and PRM in December 1984 and drew special praise from the contest judges.

"It's too bad that reports of this quality are all too often limited to public broadcasting," said one of the judges. "I think all radio reporters could take a lesson from Dave Miller's treatment of this story."

Said PRM's director Mike Morgan, "We are excited about the award. We are a new service in the state, and this is the first recognition of our efforts we have received from our peers."

The April meeting of the Blue Jeans Garden Club was held at the home of Mrs. Gloria Norton, Waveland, with 17 members in attendance.
Since the Blue Jeans members are concerned about herbicide spraying of trees and brush in our area, the president, Mrs. A.M.
